

BERLIN WELCOMES AMERICAN FLIERS

FLIGHTS PAVE WAY FOR NEW AIR SERVICE

Americans Begin to Realize Possibilities of Trans-Ocean Air Trips

BIG HELP TO INDUSTRY

Fliers of Past Exerted Selves to Awaken Popular Interest in Planes

Washington—Glad, of course, that Americans again demonstrated their courage and skill, the discussions here however turn not so much on individual accomplishment or comparison but on the value that both the Lindbergh and Chamberlin-Levine flights have had on world aviation.

For if the Chamberlin-Levine record-breaking flight had not succeeded the skeptics would have said the Lindbergh episode was a piece of luck. Now that two separate and distinct American-made motors have crossed the Atlantic without faltering, the mechanical possibilities of aviation are beginning to be given due credit.

While it may be premature to call the airplane "dependable" in the sense in which the term is usually used, the people interested in air transportation insist that the two trans-Atlantic flights confirm what they have been saying all along, namely, that the public has been deriving its impressions from the accidents and mishaps noted rather than from the large number of hours of safe flying that aviation has to its credit.

PREDICT TRAN-OCEAN SERVICE

Already the predictions are being made that trans-Atlantic passenger service will be a reality in a few years. The suggestion is being made that with one stop for fuel at Newfoundland and either off Irish coast, the service to the European continent can be accomplished by large passenger-carrying machines.

It is not forgotten here that while the world upon the individual feats as heroic, the airplane industry has been struggling for recognition during the years since the war and finally saw the stunt flying would probably be the best way to awaken people interest. This is not only true of aviation in this country, but in Europe. Fliers have gone long distances abroad in order to convince the air ministries of the importance of aviation. The American army and navy have been around the world and lately throughout Pan-America. Non-stop flights from New York to San Francisco were successfully made. Flights to the vicinity of Hawaii were accomplished by the navy from the Pacific coast. The Italians then wrested the endurance records from America where upon the aviation enthusiasts of the United States began to lay their plans for American supremacy in the air. When Chamberlin broke the endurance record, it was not enough. Four sets of fliers planned the trans-Atlantic hop. Before long the Pacific coast stop flights across the Pacific.

HELPS AWAKEN CONGRESS

This will not be lost on congress for ever since the powerful way in which Colonel Mitchell sacrificed his rank in the army to bring about an investigation of the military weakness of the United States in the air, there has been a growing realization of what the airplane can do in national defense and offense.

The fact that two American planes have crossed to Europe makes it not impossible for European planes to come to America. The days of isolation in a military sense are numbered and this may have its effect in due time on the foreign policy. The sectional achievement and thus gives aviation the biggest stimulus it thus far has had.

BLUE MOUND GOLFER IS HEAD OF BADGER CLUBS

Milwaukee—(AP)—Harry S. Hadfield of the Blue Mound Country club, Milwaukee, was elected president of the Wisconsin State Golf association at the annual meeting Monday. He succeeds Gus Kent, Sheboygan. Frank M. Wootton, Maple Bluff, Madison, was elected vice president, and Henry Tyrrell, Milwaukee secretary.

President Hadfield appointed a committee to view the battle des Morts at Appleton, to see whether it will be in shape for the annual state championship meet in August.

WIFE WOULDN'T COME BACK; HE SHOTS HER

Montrose—(AP)—Twice unsuccessful in attempts to persuade his wife to return to her home in Stoughton, Richard Clement, 45, late Monday shot her seven times while two small children looked on and then killed himself. Mrs. Clement may recover. The shooting took place at the farm home of Ben Clark, near Brookfield, where she had been employed as housekeeper for two weeks. Two of their nine children were with the mother at the farm.

Russian Student Kills Soviet Leader In Poland

Warsaw, Poland—(AP)—The soviet Russian minister to Poland, M. Wolkoff, was shot by Boris Kowarda, a young Russian student, Tuesday as he was about to leave for Moscow. The minister was taken to a hospital where he died. His assassin was arrested. Kowarda fired eight shots at M. Wolkoff, as the minister was boarding a train here to accompany A. P. Rosengolz, former charge d'affaires in London to Moscow. M. Rosengolz left London when Great Britain broke diplomatic relations with soviet Russia.

Accounts by witnesses show that the soviet minister was walking along the station platform with M. Troszelski, when the man approached and fired. M. Wolkoff fell to the platform mortally wounded in the breast. Several passengers rushed to his assistance while others seized the assassin, who later stated that he shot the envoy for political reasons. The assassin, a 19 year old student in Vilna high school, is the son of a former Russian employee. He stated that he had decided months ago to kill M. Wolkoff.

Questioning regarding an application which he had made for a visa to Russia, he declared he had called for the application blanks merely as an excuse for entering the soviet legation so he might see the minister whom he did not know by sight.

London—(AP)—The Evening News, one of Lord Rotherham's newspapers, which have conducted an intensive anti-Communist campaign in Great Britain, Tuesday attacked the Russian minister, M. Wolkoff, who was murdered in Warsaw, as "Pierre Wolkoff" who the paper says signed the death warrants of Czar Nicholas and the Russian imperial family.

"By his assassination at the hand of a royalist, retribution has come to one of the chief perpetrators of one of the foulest murders in history," says the Evening News.

BUS CRASHES INTO AUTO; ONE KILLED

Second Man Critically Injured in Accident Three Miles from Menominee

Eau Claire—(AP)—Clarence Anderson of Baldwin, was killed and Edward Podoll of Cedar Falls, perhaps was fatally injured when a car in which they were riding was struck by a Twin City southern bus, enroute from Eau Claire to St. Paul, about three miles east of Menominee late Monday afternoon. Eleven passengers and the driver of the bus were uninjured when the bus took to the ditch and stalled. One passenger, Miss Greta Stori, Menominee, received slight cuts on her hands and face.

According to versions secured by District Attorney Farnham A. Clark from eye witnesses of the accident, the Anderson car was drawn off the side of the concrete as the bus approached. A car just ahead of the bus went around it and as the bus started to pass it, the Anderson car started and began a "U" turn. The bus rammed the car broadside and demolished it. Podoll is at the city hospital in Menominee. An inquest is planned by Coroner Carl Olson.

EAU CLAIRE MAN HEADS COMMERCE SECRETARIES

Eau Claire—(AP)—A. O. Headquist of Eau Claire, was elected president at the closing session of the twelfth annual convention of the Wisconsin Association of Commercial Organization secretaries here Tuesday morning. Dr. A. K. Nelson, Ashland, was elected vice president, and Lee L. Yorkson of Wausau, was reelected secretary-treasurer. The following were elected to the board of directors: Harry J. Bell, Milwaukee; Elbert Kellogg, Nekeosha, and Fred Collins, Beloit. Janesville was chosen for the annual meeting next June.

TWO HURT IN GRADE CROSSING ACCIDENT

Oshkosh—(AP)—Lester Phillips and Edward Bestwick of this city, narrowly escaped death when their automobile was almost completely demolished in a grade crossing accident, this city late Monday afternoon. Phillips sustained the greater injuries, suffering from a fractured skull, several broken ribs and a fractured leg. He is in serious condition at a local hospital. Bestwick escaped with two gashes, one in his nose and the other in his finger.

1,500 ODD FELLOWS AT STATE MEETING

Governor Zimmerman Speaks to Rebekahs and Odd Fellows at Sheboygan

Sheboygan—(AP)—Approximately 1,500 delegates of the Wisconsin Independent Order of Odd Fellows and the Rebekah assembly of this state are convening here Tuesday. With the present session under way, Sheboygan claims the distinction of being host to the two largest state Odd Fellows conventions ever held—the session 21 years ago and the present one. Governor Fred Zimmerman is to be the principal speaker at Tuesday evening's joint session of the two orders. Mayor Herman Schuchke will welcome the delegates, and the grand master, William F. Day of the Odd Fellows, and President Hilda Wipf of the Rebekah assembly, will respond. Grand Chaplin J. F. Carle will give an address. C. S. Broughton will preside at the meeting.

Delegates began arriving Monday night, and Tuesday morning was given over to presentation of credentials and organization work. Memorial services by the Rebekah assembly will be held Tuesday afternoon.

CHARLES SCOTT IS NAMED SECRETARY AT Y. M. C. A.

Charles Scott, Appleton, son of Dr. and Mrs. E. B. Scott, has been appointed secretary at a meeting of the Y. M. C. A. for the summer, according to John W. Puch, boys' work secretary. Appointment was made by the boys' work committee of the association this week.

Mr. Scott will start his duties next Monday morning. He is a junior at Lawrence college.

CONSIDER IMPROVEMENT AT ISOLATION HOSPITAL

Repairs and improvements at city isolation hospital, 1818 W. Spencer, were discussed at a meeting of the board of health at the city hall Monday evening. The committee inspected the hospital but no definite decision was reached. Alderman R. F. McGilgan is chairman of the group.

SENATE WANTS CAL TO VISIT STATE CAPITAL

Concurs in Joint Resolution Adopted by Lower House of Legislature

Madison—(AP)—The state senate Tuesday concurred in a joint resolution asking President Coolidge to stop over in Madison while enroute to the Black Hills of South Dakota for summer residence, and address the Wisconsin legislature.

Concurrence of the upper house came after receipt of a letter from the president's secretary, thanking the legislators for a previous invitation to establish the summer White House in Wisconsin. The letter, signed by Everett Sanders, said the president appreciated the invitation but had already declined it. South Dakota his choice.

The senate also concurred in a resolution asking that appropriate services be held at the grave of Robert Marion La Follette, June 14. The upper house refused to reconsider the vote by which Senator Caldwell's 4 cent gas tax was killed last week.

RAISES POINT OF ORDER

Raising a point of order declaring a substitute amendment to his bank bill was not germane. Assemblyman Swanson Tuesday caused postponement of action on the bill, pending a ruling from Speaker Eber of the lower house.

The bill, as originally introduced, provided for the establishment of a fund from a certain portion of a bank's moneys to be used as a depositor's guarantee fund. The substitute amendment requires that an additional fund be established, more inclusive than the one fund.

Speaker Eber said he would rule on the point of order in a few days.

CHARGE PEONAGE ON GEORGIA FARM

Physician Farmer Faces Court on Allegations of Holding Negroes in Bondage

Athens, Ga.—(AP)—A picture of plantation Negroes hoeing corn and chopping cotton under threats of death and suffering personal violence when incurring the displeasure of their wealthy employer, has been held up to a federal jury sitting in the trial of Dr. W. R. King, physician-farmer, on charges of peonage.

Barth A. Wood, a white man who worked on Dr. King's Ogeethorpe farm, testified that he was struck down with a pistol for suggesting that he attend a barbecue on the farm.

Prosecution witnesses were heard at the opening of the trial as the government laid the foundation for its specific charge that Dr. King forced Benny Dorsey, a Negro, to work on his farm without pay.

Ed Clark, Negro, said that Dr. King got him out of the stockade in Atlanta and that later five Negroes, who escaped from the sawmill on the farm, were whipped by Dr. King with a piece of lumpy cane.

J. E. George, a white man, testified that on one occasion in 1925 he saw five Negroes being taken from the Atlanta city prison, tied to Dr. King's automobile.

Levis Andrews, white, formerly in charge of King's saw mill, sought to refute testimony given Monday by Raymond Tyler, a Negro, about conditions at the saw mill. Andrews, called as a government witness, testified on cross-examination that bunks were provided to sleep on and that good food was served.

KING BENJAMIN TRIED TO BRIBE HER, WITNESS SAYS

St. Joseph, Mich.—(AP)—Mrs. Isabella Pritchard, 70, testified in the state's dissolution suit against the House of David Tuesday that Benjamin Purnell, leader of the colony, offered her $500 "to keep her mouth shut" after her daughters had charged Purnell with molesting them. The offer, she said, was made by Ada Rees, acting as Ben's emissary after she had faced the colony leader and accused him.

She related here she had loaned Purnell a corset to be used with a "molting husband" disguise. In 1920 she said she feared a raid might follow complaints by a girl member of the colony. He donned the corset and dress and added a wig. Mrs. Pritchard testified. Mrs. Pritchard said a minister made the colony a special price of 50 cents a couple for group marriages.

MILWAUKEE WOMAN HURT IN TRUCK-AUTO CRASH

Eau Claire—(AP)—Robert Flood, Locust-st., Milwaukee, was seriously injured late Monday afternoon when a heavy travel truck collided with an automobile in which she was riding near Fairchild. She was taken to a hospital here. She suffered a broken arm and cuts and bruises, but her condition is not regarded as grave. Two companions in the car with Mrs. Flood escaped with minor injuries.

CHICAGO CLUB TRADES WITH PHILADELPHIA

Chicago—(AP)—Jim Cooney, infielder, and Tony Kaufmann, right hand pitcher, Tuesday were traded by the Chicago Nationals to the Philadelphia Nationals for Harold Carlson, right hand pitcher.

CARRIES OUT HIS THREAT; RETURNS TO HOLD UP BANK

Bancroft—(AP)—Making good his promise to "come back and pay another visit here," a lone bandit walked into the Bancroft State bank at 7 o'clock Tuesday morning held up Harry A. Manley assistant cashier, and escaped with a small amount of cash.

The man who, Manley said, was wearing a Negro mask, is believed to be the same burglar who has entered several homes in the last few weeks. At each home he left notes signed the "O. K. Boy" and in his last stating that he had had a "war time of it." The last few days, and would be back soon for another "war time." He apparently returned Tuesday.

The vault had been set on the true lock when the man entered the bank and the assistant cashier could not open the door when ordered by the gunman. The man scooped up the loose cash on the counter and fled.

HIGH COURT UPHOLDS AMBULANCE CHASING PROBE IN MILWAUKEE

Quashes Writ of Habeas Corpus and Orders Attorney to Go to Jail

Milwaukee—(AP)—Through action of the state supreme court, William B. Rubin, Milwaukee criminal lawyer, Tuesday had 30 days in which to seek intervention by the United States supreme court to forestall a 30 day sentence in the county jail imposed upon him for criminal contempt in the extraordinary inquiry into legal abuses. Rubin was afforded the opportunity to institute further proceedings through the action of the supreme court in withholding for 30 days all records in the case which it decided Monday.

In a sweeping decision, the supreme court Monday upheld the validity of ambulance chasing inquiry in Milwaukee, probably the first of its kind in the country, and quashed the writ of habeas corpus on which William B. Rubin, Milwaukee criminal lawyer, forestalled temporary confinement to a 30 day sentence for contempt of court.

The attorney, who was held in contempt by the three circuit judges in the inquiry into legal abuses, was recommended to the custody of the sheriff. Rubin refused to serve his 30 day sentence to support allegations that three Milwaukee attorneys conducting the questioning at the inquiry had conspired against him.

The high court held that the circuit judges proceeded legally in conducting the inquiry under the special provisions of the statute, and that under the facts as presented in the habeas corpus writ, Circuit Judge Otto Breidenbach should not have granted the writ of habeas corpus. Rubin applied for the writ after being taken in custody by the sheriff to serve his 30 day sentence in the county jail. The case went to the high court on the question of whether the habeas corpus writ should be quashed.

Under a further provision of the decision of the supreme court an inquiry into charges of ambulance chasing conducted by the three circuit court judges conducting the ambulance chasing inquiry. The charges of conspiracy were made by Rubin in starting proceedings under the discovery statute seeking to question the three lawyers and others involved in the ambulance chasing quiz to establish a basis for a personal damage suit. Rubin's action followed taking of testimony portraying the attorney as personally "chasing cases from persons suspected of murder."

FINE APPLETON MAN AS DRUNKEN DRIVER

Theodore Locken Is Ordered to Quit Driving for 90 Days by Green Bay Court

Theodore Locken, Appleton, was one of three drunken drivers arraigned in municipal court at Green Bay Monday, fined $100 and costs and barred from driving for 90 days. Locken pleaded not guilty but he was found guilty by the court and fined. He had been arrested by a motorcycle officer in the town of Lawrence on Federal Highway 41, on Sunday evening. Locken had gone over the black line which divides the road.

The other machine, breaking a wheel and tearing off a fender. He admitted that he had been drinking but claimed that his wife was driving the car. The testimony of witnesses, however, was that Locken was at the wheel, and the judge informed him the automobile was driven under his supervision.

U. W. Groups Must Act On Misconduct, Frank Says

Madison—(AP)—Nine University of Wisconsin men students have withdrawn from school as the result of recent investigation of alleged improper conduct between a university professor and a number of students, according to a statement from the office of President Glenn Frank Tuesday.

The nine men are said to have withdrawn at the request of the disciplinary committee of the university which conducted the investigation. The girls, a number of students in the college of letters and science, has also left school.

As a result of the investigation, President Frank has announced a new policy for the university in that all student groups, fraternities and societies, will be held directly responsible for the acts of their members.

"Every student group is held primarily responsible for the conduct of its members," he said, "if in any group a moral waking dishonors the group or the university, the administration of the university expects the group in question to pass upon the case and clear the university and the community of the undesirable element."

STILL EXPLODES—TWO BURNED, ONE ARRESTED

Marinette—(AP)—One man is under arrest and two others are in an Iron Mountain hospital, suffering from burns about the arms and face, as the result of the explosion of a still located in a barn between Pembine and Niznara last Thursday afternoon.

Teddy Sticer, Iron Mountain, was taken into custody Sunday by Sheriff Oscar Dahl of Marinette-co., at Niznara and was held in the county jail here, pending a hearing before Justice of the Peace William Tremearc.

The still is reported to be exploded, burning the men badly and spreading flames that resulted in the destruction of the barn where it was located, and the farm house. Knowledge of the explosion was first learned when the two men were brought to the hospital, according to the sheriff.

LINDBERGH IS ENJOYING HIS VOYAGE TO U.S.

Now Is Colonel in Missouri Guard—Wires Congratulations to Berlin

Chicago—(AP)—Vice President Charles G. Dawes Tuesday named a committee of twelve to represent the United States senate at the national reception for Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh at Washington next Saturday.

U. S. S. Memphis, by Wireless to the Associated Press—Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh is having such a good time on his "private" warship that he wouldn't mind a bit if the cruise were to continue a few days longer, except that the arrangements have already been made for his reception at Washington and elsewhere.

Unless the encounters exceptionally bad weather, Vice Admiral Burrage is sure the distinguished passenger will be able to step ashore at Washington on schedule time for the greetings of President Coolidge and other officials of his government. The admiral hopes to reach the Virginia capes early Friday evening, and this would give ample time for a leisurely journey up the Potomac.

Colonel Lindbergh, when not resting, is deeply engrossed in the innumerable details that have developed from his notable flight. Immediately after he learned that the trans-Atlantic plane Columbia had landed on German soil he dispatched a radio message to Clarence D. Chamberlin, the Columbia's pilot, congratulating him.

The lone knight of the air has a good appetite and the sea voyage has sharpened it. He is eating three big square meals a day, and nibbling chocolate and snacks in between. In a day or so he wants to eat with the crew and the men already are drawing lots to see at whose table he will sit.

NATION AWAITS "LINDY"

Washington—(AP)—From the air and on land and sea an admiring American nation is waiting to pay gratitude and tribute to its citizen, Charles A. Lindbergh, when he first returns to his native shores at Washington next Saturday and as a more tangible reward will present the 25-year-old pilot, already wearing the highest decorations of three European countries. His most distinguished awards for aviation achievement are the Distinguished Flying Cross and the Distinguished Service Medal.

In addition to the presentation of the distinguished flying cross to the flier on his arrival by President Coolidge, the Smithsonian institute has awarded Lindbergh the coveted Langley medal. Chief Justice Taft will present the medal to Lindbergh later in the year.

The aviator probably will find his greatest satisfaction in the tribute of his fellow birdmen of the army, navy and air mail service who will fly their planes down the Potomac river to greet him before the scout cruiser Memphis docks at the navy yard. More than 100 army and navy airplanes will hover overhead.

SEND OUT DIRIGIBLE

The navy's huge dirigible Los Angeles, piloted by Lieut. Commander Charles E. Rosendahl, and other heroes of the Shenandoah disaster has been ordered to travel far out to sea to greet the Memphis.

The delivery of three addresses by Lindbergh over a huge radio hookup will make the welcome of a general nationwide character. The addresses will include one after the President decorates him with the flying cross and others at receptions on Saturday night by the Minnesota society and the National Press club. More than fifty stations will be in the broadcast-link hookup.

Governor Baker of Missouri, ordered Lindbergh's promotion from his present rank of captain to that of colonel in the state's national guard flying service.

55 REPORTED KILLED IN WRECK OF STEAMER

Manila—(AP)—The steamer Nasale arrived here Tuesday with 57 survivors of the wreck of the inter-Island steamer Negroes, off the Bondog peninsula May 23. Many of the rescued passengers, suffering from minor injuries were taken to a hospital. Others were turned over to the Red Cross.

Many expressed desire to return to their homes, but may be held here pending an investigation of the wreck in which, according to the latest checks, 55 persons perished.

ONEIDA WOMAN DIES OF FRACTURED SKULL RECEIVED IN CRASH

District Attorney Expected to Question Driver of Fatal Automobile

Mrs. Peter Williams, 65 years old, a resident of the town of Oneida, died at her home shortly before 7 o'clock Monday evening from injuries received Sunday night in a collision between the carriage in which she was riding with her husband and an automobile driven by Harry Engstrand, Iron Mountain, Mich. It was reported Tuesday morning at the office of Sheriff Otto H. Zuehlke, Her injuries consisted of a fractured skull and numerous bruises about her body.

The accident occurred about 11 o'clock Sunday night on highway 64 in front of the Hanson Denny farm, about half-way between Seymour and Oneida.

Sheriff Zuehlke expected to take Mr. Engstrand to the office of John A. Lonsdorf, district attorney, Tuesday afternoon for questioning.

CARRIAGE TIPS OVER

The aged couple was returning home in a carriage Sunday night, headed east on highway 64, as it was driven by Mr. Engstrand approached from the opposite direction. The car and carriage collided near the center of the road, tipping the carriage over and completely demolishing it.

The man and his wife were taken to the office of a physician at Seymour by Mr. Engstrand and George King, Menasha, another motorist who came along shortly after the collision.

Mr. Williams suffered a dislocated collar bone and many bruises. After their injuries had been dressed, the couple was taken home by Mr. Engstrand.

Lights in the home the following morning attracted the attention of Mrs. J. Paulis, a neighbor, and she went over to the Williams home to find the husband unconscious in bed upstairs and the woman unconscious in his downstairs. She immediately telephoned for a doctor at Seymour.

The doctor reached the home shortly after noon, attended to the injured persons, and left with the promise to return the same evening. When he called again about 7 o'clock Monday night he learned the woman had died about 10 minutes earlier.

A large sum of money said to have been carried by Mrs. Williams in the chamois skin sack was reported to have been missing shortly after the accident. The chamois skin sack was still on her body.

REPORT TO SHERIFF

The accident was reported to Sheriff Zuehlke by Mrs. Ed Williams, Oneida, Monday morning, and the sheriff, Ed Walter Schreck, deputy sheriff, conducted an investigation the same day.

Whether any charges will be placed against Mr. Engstrand has not been indicated by authorities. They wished to question the motorist before making a decision.

Mr. Engstrand is reported to have said that he did not see the rig as lights of an approaching automobile temporarily blinded him.

England is constructing a large roadhouse on highway 64 between Oneida and Seymour for August Fern. It was said. The automobile in which England was driving is owned by Mr. Fern.

ARE HONORARY CITIZENS

Kottbus, Germany—(AP)—American's new aerial heroes, Clarence Chamberlin and Charles Levine, 35, were made honorary citizens of the town last Saturday morning, were made honorary citizens of Kottbus with solemn ceremony Monday.

Shaved, bathed and keenly alert the fliers were conducted to the town hall, where the ceremony took place. The action of the officials in conferring the honor was confirmed by a census demonstration from the crowd of about 5,000 inhabitants who packed the market place. The Burghers of Kottbus town stayed up late Monday night celebrating the arrival of the trans-Atlantic aviators.

At ceremonies in the market place, Chamberlin locked away juvenile in deer skin flying jacket, soft white shirt, with a black tie, wolf knickers and plaid foot stockings. Levine wore the business suit in which he made the flight with Chamberlin. The lord mayor of Kottbus, Dr. Kreutz, was respondent in formal attire.

PLAY NATIONAL SONGS

The star "Spanned Banner" as the aviators entered the big ceremonial hall of the Rathaus. The whole audience arose and stood at attention. Lord Mayor Kreutz in a brief speech presented the aviators with two magnificent salvers.

Dewitt C. Poole, counselor of the American embassy in Berlin, replied in German in behalf of the fliers. At the conclusion of the brief ceremonies the entire audience rose and lustily sang "Deutschland Ueber Alles," while Chamberlin, formerly in the United States aviation service, stood strictly at attention.

CORR FOR WELCOME

While the aviators were enjoying the comforts of ample German beds, the substantial mill owners and merchants caused the corks to pop and indulged in a little mild singing, in which their town's Handwerker were joined, in honor of "The Americans."

Columbia Flies from Kottbus to German Capital Late This Afternoon

ARE GUESTS AT EMBASSY

U. S. Flag Waves and Bands Play American Airs to Honor Aviators

Templehofer Airfield, Germany—(AP)—Clarence Chamberlin and Charles Levine brought their trans-Atlantic monoplane Columbia down on Templehofer airfield at 5:51 Tuesday afternoon, completing their interrupted flight from Roosevelt field, New York. They flew here from Kottbus, Brandenburg province, 70 miles southeast of the capital, beginning the short hop at 4:15 in the afternoon.

It was at Klinge, a little village near Kottbus, that the Columbia came to rest in a marshy field Monday while the fliers were attempting to reach Berlin from Eisleben, where their great trans-oceanic flight from New York was first broken.

The Columbia was first sighted from the field shortly before 5:30 and there rose a great roar of welcome from the assembled thousands. As Chamberlin circled the field, the American flag was run up the main flagstaff of the airfield.

After having made his initial appearance the pilot swung over Berlin proper in order to give the population that had awaited him so eagerly all day Monday and Tuesday a chance to catch a glimpse of the plane that had conquered the Atlantic. Then he headed back for the field and came down.

MESSANGER OF GOOD WILL

Ambassador Jacob G. Schurman, welcoming Chamberlin on his arrival at Templehofer field, hailed him as a messenger of good-will and friendship from the American people to the German people and invited him and his companion to be his guests at the American embassy. Welcoming delegations and members of the American embassy staff were at the field to greet the fliers.

When the Columbia swooped to land thousands gathered at the airport and the aviator's enthusiasm prevailed, girls waving handkerchiefs and throwing kisses. The band struck up American airs when Chamberlin and Levine appeared.

Huge laurel wreaths were placed on the plane's tail and the American flag was hoisted to the reception hall of the airfield while the Columbia was hauled into one of the Luft-thansa hangars.

As Chamberlin and Levine left the plane, the crowd impetuously attempted to break the police cord around it, but could not get far.

The Americans were taken in tow by the reception committee. Ambassador Schurman escorting Chamberlin, and Burgomaster Scholz taking Levine's arm. In concluding of the entire German population to the aviator and his companion were tendered by Burgomaster Scholz.

REPORT TO SHERIFF

The accident was reported to Sheriff Zuehlke by Mrs. Ed Williams, Oneida, Monday morning, and the sheriff, Ed Walter Schreck, deputy sheriff, conducted an investigation the same day.

WEATHER CONDITIONS
The pressure is high from the north, the Atlantic coast to the central plains this morning, with mostly fair weather, except for showers in the south. The pressure is lower over the north and far west, with some clouds and with a few light showers. This distribution of weather causes favors generally fair weather and moderate temperature in this section tonight and Wednesday, though some cloudiness is possible and the temperature on Wednesday may not be quite so high.

Under-Sheriff Is Almost Beaten Up By Insane Man

Otto Wikert, under sheriff, is a strong man, but he met almost more than his match Monday afternoon in an insane man. Incidentally, it was the latter's sanity which was the cause of the trouble.

Shortly after noon Monday, the under-sheriff started for the town of Bovina in Sheriff Otto H. Zuehlke's car to bring in a man believed to be insane for examination.

He found his man without any difficulty, placed him in the front seat with himself, and headed his car toward Appleton.

As the deputy neared Binghamton on highway 54 with his prisoner, the latter suddenly became active.

"Hallelujah, Hallelujah, look out or I'll get your nose," the prisoner shouted in an unnatural tone, much to the surprise and dismay of the under-sheriff.

It was quite apparent to Otto that his companion meant what he said. Before Otto could stop his car, the insane man began scratching and biting Under-Sheriff Wikert, and the latter jumped out of the car as soon as he could.

He didn't want his prisoner to escape, and he did everything he could think of to keep him in the machine, but the insane man got out and dragged the under-sheriff into the ditch.

They scuffled for ten or fifteen minutes and the insane man apparently was getting stronger every minute.

About the time Otto was getting dubious about the outcome of his battle, he received aid from an unexpected source. A. G. Brusewitz, county highway commissioner, happened to drive by in his car, saw the scuffle and recognized the under-sheriff.

The insane man finally was subdued, and placed in the rear seat of the highway commissioner's car, with the highway commissioner sitting at his side. The under-sheriff got into the front seat and drove back to Appleton.

A scratched and bruised face exhibited by Otto testified to his experience.

The prisoner was given a mental examination the same afternoon, was found insane, and was taken to the Northern Hospital for the Insane at Oshkosh. Monday evening by Deputy Sheriff Wikert and William R. Kreiss, municipal court reporter.

It's all in the business, mused the battered Otto Tuesday as he felt of his tattered countenance.

$3,896 GIVEN HERE TO AID FLOOD SUFFERERS

Still More Money Is Needed to Rehabilitate Inundated Territory

Nearly $4,000 has been received by the Outagamie-co chapter of the American Red Cross association for flood sufferers of the Mississippi river valley, according to P. M. Conkey, treasurer of the chapter. He reported $3,896 collected for the relief work.

The need for funds has not ceased, he emphasized. Rehabilitation work will take a long time and a great deal of money. Herbert Hoover, secretary of commerce, stated in an appeal for $2,000,000 made over the radio recently. The floods are not over yet, it was said. Those who have not given were urged to give, and Mr. Conkey repeated his urge to the people of Outagamie-co. Appleton and cities near here have done well, but it was felt there were many who had not given and might do so now, the treasurer said.

BOLDT ARGUES FOR BILL TO LICENSE CONTRACTORS

Martin Boldt, Appleton contractor, will leave Wednesday morning for Madison to appear before the joint legislative committee to argue for a proposed bill at 2 o'clock Thursday afternoon.

Mr. Boldt originated the licensing bill, and through his efforts and those of the Appleton Master Builder's association the state association voted to sponsor the measure. Mr. Boldt also is chairman of the public utility committee of the state association which is in charge of the bill.

BARBERS THREATEN TO SHAVE BUTCHERS IN BASEBALL GAME

Answering the challenge of the Butchers' union for a game of baseball with the barbers' local, the "hair cutters" declare they are willing to play the "meat cutters" when and where they will. It is possible that the two unions will appoint committees to set a date for the game and prepare rules. One barber suggested that all meat cleavers, butcher knives, razors and scissors be barred from the game. He said they were unnecessary, as pop bottles and other such miscellaneous articles probably will cause enough trouble.

The barbers are determined to "trim" the butchers while the latter, in turn, are just as anxious to "cleave" the barbers.

"It will be a close shave no matter who wins," one barber declared.

Harvey Fricke, commander of Oney Johnston post of the American legion, attended the fourth annual conference of the Eighth district legion auxiliary at New London Tuesday afternoon.

Col. H. L. "Pop" Plummer, national executive committeeman of the American legion, spoke briefly on Pop. From 8:15 to 8:30 was zero hour. There was a moment of silence followed by the singing of America, reading of the Kiwanis message from President Amerman, the singing of the Song of Kiwanis, and a group recitation of the Interclub Relations creed. William Schubert, who was in charge of the program, read the president's message and Dr. V. B. Scott, pastor of Memorial Presbyterian church and past president of the club, spoke on the Meaning of All-Kiwanis Night.

The president's message told the meaning of zero hour. It explained the ideals and aims of Kiwanis International and how the club had faithfully carried out the ideals and aims in the last year. A renewal of a pledge to "carry on" completed the message.

75 KIWANIS AT ZERO HOUR PROGRAM

Local Club Joins Fraternity in International Meeting

About 75 Kiwanians and their ladies observed All-Kiwanis night with a program Monday evening at Hotel Northern. The night was observed by all Kiwanis clubs of the United States and Canada in connection with the first night of the International Kiwanis convention in Memphis, Tenn. Because of the special meeting no regular meeting will be held Wednesday noon.

The program opened with a dinner at which telegrams were read from Dr. J. R. Denyes, J. L. Johns, Frank Catlin and Guy Marston, delegates of the local club at Memphis. A musical program was held after the dinner. It consisted of the selection played by a trio composed of the Misses Lella Boettcher, Persis Schneek and Helen Ibert; vocal solos by Miss Anna Marie Halgren, and a duet by Miss Balgoin and Miss Lorena Cannon.

LEAGUE REMEMBERS THAT ANDREWS WAS REALLY WET ONCE

Insists That Haynes Was Responsible for Former Chief's Record

BY RODNEY DUTCHER
Washington — Now that the shooting is over, commentators of going-on in your country's capital are trying to explain some of the surface moves in the recent resignations and promotions in the prohibition forces.

What explains the Anti-Saloon League's apparent willingness to be rid of General Lincoln C. Andrews as boss prohibition enforcer?

Andrews, along with Secretary of the Treasury Mellon, was opposed to Haynes. There were every reason to believe that if Andrews were to have Haynes showed down his throat he might promptly quit in disgust, for there had been more or less difficulty in persuading him to stick by the ship as long as he had.

ANDREWS GENERALLY COM-MENDED

What did the Anti-Saloon League have against Andrews?

It is almost generally conceded that Andrews has done a far more work-like job of prohibition enforcement than any of his predecessors among prohibition enforcers. He abolished Rum Row, cut down border smuggling, slashed alcohol diversion and extended the three-mile limit almost into the seven seas. No citizen has yet complained to Congress that he couldn't get a drink whenever he wanted it, but there has never been any question that Andrews and his wrecking crew of ex-army officers have made as big a dent in the booze business as could reasonably be expected.

So, what has the league got against Andrews?

Fundamentally, no doubt, the league can never forget that Andrews is a law-enforcer rather than a crusader. He may be personally dry at this time, but he wasn't before he took over his big job and the league only accepts his reformation with reservations. It has reiterated time and again that the commissionship needs a man who thoroughly believes in the Volstead Act and whose heart will be in his work. No army officers, the league hints, need apply.

WAS HAYNES MASTER MIND?

But the league goes farther than that. It insists, without any public bulls to this effect, that Haynes is actually a better enforcer than Andrews. It takes the position that all the policies of Haynes. And it adds more or less successfully have been slyly that nearly all the policies that the policies Andrews has carried out Andrews has himself originated have had to be bootied right out the door. In other words, Haynes is really one of the best little enforcers this country can produce and Andrews is little better than a misfit. Nobody in the prohibition business is stranger to this attitude, so the lack of cordiality between Andrews and the league is quite understandable.

One asks, quite naturally, why Haynes didn't carry out these policies of his when he was in the saddle before. The league whispers back that Haynes never really had any power while he was under the supervision of the Internal Revenue Bureau. It says that Haynes' enthusiastic advocacy of all the present enforcement policies is a matter of record and that Commissioner of Internal Revenue David Blair done the league dirt when he smothered the attempts of Haynes.

EXPLAINING WHEELER SILENCE

One may ask, further, why Wayne B. Wheeler doesn't come right out and say all this publicly. Why doesn't he boldly attack Andrews, Blair and Mellon and say just what he thinks about them?

The answer is that Wheeler is too smart.

There is enough bitterness already and any more might react against the league—and Wheeler. The league doesn't publicly explain itself for about the same reason that it doesn't undertake to expose the numerous senators, congressmen, cabinet members and other officials who are publicly dry and privately wet. It has achieved brilliant success without such drastic tactics, and looks forward to an even more brilliant future.

Personally Dry Senators Scarce As Hen's Teeth

BY RODNEY DUTCHER

Washington — Senator William Cabell Bruce of Maryland told the Senate last session that you could put all the personally dry senators in a taxi cab.

If a fellow were to believe all he heard in these precincts, he would admit that Bruce had exaggerated. The popular impression is that you could put all the personally dry senators on a bicycle.

Giving no more notice to such base canards who leave every senator flitting for the seat on the bicycle for the sake of the folks back home, it must nevertheless be said that some politically dry senators fully appreciate the fact that there are at this moment no more filibusters and all night sessions during which the sergeant-at-arms may be ordered to break into their divisions and bring them into the chamber.

That happened one night during the Boulder Dam filibuster in the last session, to the great embarrassment of perhaps a half dozen senators who were dragged in unexpectedly.

The aforesaid situation calls to mind the case of a very illustrious political dry senator who was poured into the chamber to help vote for war against Germany. A woman who had two grown sons and hadn't raised them to be soldiers was in the gallery, and she had her eyes on this senator. She was convinced that the public interest required everyone to have his full mental faculties at such a time. She wrote a scathing letter to the unfortunate man. And then she sent a copy of the letter to every member of Congress.

One of the most eminent dry senators of the present day recently officiated at the awarding of golf tournament prizes in one of Washington's most fashionable and exclusive country clubs. Without blinking an eye, he presented with more or less appropriate remarks a silver flask, a cocktail shaker and a lemon squeezer. That is to say, he gave the winners everything necessary for a lively party—except the bottle of gin.

One of the quaintest and most elaborate rites of Washington life is that of introducing a dry congressman to a bootlegger.

One such, who is so dry in so far as the world at large is concerned

CROPS WILL BE LATE, COUNTY AGENT THINKS

Crops probably will be later than usual in maturing because of continued wet weather, he indicated. Acres and acres of corn have not yet been planted because of wet conditions.

Although some of the more hardy grains like barley, oats and wheat probably have not been affected much (that he has been spoken of as a great leader for the cause, recently attended a party at which was served better than average rye whisky. It is just as well to draw a veil over the details of the party. Anyway, a couple of days later he had recovered sufficiently to approach his host and ask to be made acquainted with the bootlegger. It was suggested that the bootlegger be sent to his hotel, whereupon the congressman nearly swooned with fright at the very thought.

Finally everything was arranged so that the congressman could meet the business-man at a point far from his own accustomed haunts.

There may be plenty of laughs at the dry member who drinks in private, but the gent who is opposed to prohibition as a matter of principle and yet is personally bone dry should also be mentioned. That's a big laugh, too, in most cases. Undoubtedly there are such individuals, but investigation generally proves it to be camouflage.

JULY 2 LAST DAY FOR VETERANS TO CONVERT INSURANCE

Six Permanent Forms Are Now Offered Ex-soldiers by Government

July 2, 1927, is the final date for veterans of the World war to reinstate and convert their lapsed war insurance according to a notice from the United States Veterans Bureau received by Harvey Priebe, commander of Oney Johnston post of the American legion. Tuesday was the last day for filing claims for disability.

The government now has six permanent forms of converted life insurance, the ordinary life, 20-payment life, 20-payment life, 20-year endowment, 30-year endowment and endowment at the age of 62, according to the notice. It also has a 51-year convertible term policy, which automatically becomes an ordinary life policy at the end of five years.

All applications must be completed, mailed, or delivered to the Veterans' bureau prior to July 2, together with a remittance for the month of lapse on the term insurance, also the first premium payment on the converted policy. Applications for reinstatement and conversion for a veteran who is in good health must include a remittance sufficient to cover premium for reinstatement of his war risk insurance, and at least one month's premium in advance of his converted policy, also proof of insurability on Veterans' Bureau form 742 in the form a complete physical examination by any practicing physician.

A veteran who is suffering from a disability or disabilities incurred in or aggravated by his military service, and providing he is not permanently and totally disabled, may reinstate his lapsed War Risk Insurance upon payment of all term insurance premiums in arrears together with interest at the rate of 5 per cent from the date he allowed his war risk insurance to lapse. If the veteran is unable to make the payment of all back premiums in cash, an interest-bearing indebtedness against his converted policy.

Applications that are incomplete cannot be approved nor considered after July 2.

Complete information, rates, and the necessary forms may be secured from the Oney Johnston post or by writing to the regional manager, United States Veterans' Bureau, 137 Second-st., Milwaukee.

CORRECT HEALTH OF SCHOOL CHILD EARLY

Defects in children's health should be corrected early in the summer, parents are advised by Miss Orblison, city school nurse. Defective tonsils, teeth and other things to be corrected before school opens should be done early enough so that the children will be in perfect condition in the fall, she pointed out.

Often parents put off these corrections until a week or two before school opens and then the children are not able to start their school work with the classes.

VOCATIONAL BOARDS MAY BORROW MONEY, RULING

Madison—(AP)—Boards of industrial and vocational education in Wisconsin may borrow money for the support of the continuation schools if they are short of funds, says an opinion from the attorney general to the state board of vocational education.

The opinion says the boards are "empowered and it is made their duty to support and maintain schools for industrial education and to require the

FISHING ISN'T AS GOOD NOW AS FEW WEEKS AGO, REPORT

Fishermen who returned to the city with glowing reports during the first few days of the trout season, are finding the wily inhabitants of the brooks a little harder to capture lately, though white bass, pickerel and perch are biting well. The like Waltons explain that the heavy rains of the last few weeks have made the streams too high for good trout fishing. Pike are not biting well but white bass and perch fishing is flourishing on Lakes Winnebago and Butte des Morts and on the Wolf river according to the reports. Pickerel fishing on Shawano lake also is said to be good.

COMPLETE SETTLING BASIN FOR APPLETON

The new settling basin at the Appleton Water department on W. Water-st was completed last week, according to A. J. Hall, superintendent of the department. Workers were removing the forms Monday and grading and seeding the land which was torn up during the construction. It is expected that the basin will be used for the first time next Monday.

Work was started about a month ago by the C. R. Meyer and Sons Construction company of Oshkosh. The new basin, larger than either of the basins now in use, will increase the efficiency of the settling process of purifying the water. The cost of the project was approximately $35,000.

SUMMER PROGRAM FOR "Y" BOYS COMPLETED

The summer program for the boys' department of the Y. M. C. A. was completed Monday by John W. Pugh, boys' secretary. The gymnasium will be closed for the summer but swims will be held.

On Monday, Wednesday, Friday and Saturday, the department will be open from 9:30 in the morning to 9:30 at night, but on Tuesday and Thursday, it will not open until 1 o'clock in the afternoon. Daily swims will be held at 4 o'clock in the afternoon and 7 o'clock in the evening except on Saturday when the swim will be at 10 o'clock in the morning.

Levy and collection of sufficient taxes to enable them to carry on such schools and in case for any reason the board is short of funds to meet its obligations, it could borrow money for that purpose.

Clear, White, Smooth Hands Are Beautiful

Manicuring alone can not make the hands beautiful. The skin itself must be soft, firm, white, and youthful. The easiest way to do this is to mix the juice of two lemons with three ounces of Orchard White, and massage this sweetly fragrant lemon bleach daily into the hands and arms. It will make even stained, toil-worn hands soft, clear, smooth and white. All dealers have Orchard White.

INDUSTRIAL HEADS LOOK FORWARD TO SAFETY GATHERING

Annual Meeting of Conference Will Be Held at Shoygan June 14

Approximately 100 men and women representing Appleton industries are expected to attend the annual Fox River Valley Safety conference at Shoygan on June 14, according to Harry F. Menzel, local representative of the Wisconsin Industrial commission. Mr. Menzel is visiting employers in the valley to remind them of the conference and to get the names of those expected to attend. More than 1,000 men and women representing every valley city will attend. The conference was held in Appleton last year.

The final program has been completed and will be announced this week, according to Mr. Menzel. Two Appleton men, one from Kaukauna, and one from Neenah are scheduled to give addresses at the sectional meetings in the morning. They are C. K. Boyer, superintendent of the Interstate Pulp and Paper company; A. C. Kenley, general manager of the Patten Paper company; R. M. Radach, superintendent of the Thimney Pulp and Paper company; Kaukauna, M. G. Hofer, staff superintendent of service, Kimberly-Clark Paper company, Kim-

The conference group will be divided into four sections, each of which will hold separate meetings during the morning. These groups are pulp and paper section, public utilities section, metal and metal working section, and woodworking section. In the afternoon a general meeting will be held and in the evening the entire group again will gather.

Every Foreman a Safety Director will be the topic discussed by G. A. Keuchemester, safety director of the Dominion Forge and Stamping company Ltd., Walkerville, Ontario, Canada, at the afternoon meeting.

WAGS A WICKED TONGUE

What chance did six young men in the national oratorical contest at Washington have against Dorothy Carter, 17, of Salt Lake City, Utah, the only girl competitor, when her tongue was as smooth as her looks? You're right! By her victory she became the American champion in an international forensic fray.

How To Play Bridge

By Milton C. Work

BRIDGE.

The pointer for today is:

There Are Many Hands With Which A Dealer Should Bid, But With Which After Two Passes Third Hand Should Pass.

Yesterday I started a series of North hands which will be continued during the current week. Each day the previous declarations are given in four cases, the question in every case being what North should declare. Yesterday's North Hand (Score, Love-All)

- A-10-8
- A-9-6
- A-8-6-3
- 7-4-2

My answers and reasons follow:
No. 1—South pass, West pass; North should pass.
North is called upon to declare after two passes; he has the strength to bid a No Trump either as Dealer or Second Hand after Dealer's pass, but he has not the strength to bid after his partner's pass.

No. 2—South one Diamond, West pass; North should bid one No Trump. While North has much more than normal assistance for his partner's Diamond, that should not prevent his changing his partner's Minor to a better declaration. Such a bid over a Minor is not a diamond and the No Trump is more apt to produce game.

No. 3—South one Spade, West pass; North should pass.
North has more than normal assistance for his partner's Spade. To bid No Trump would deny normal assistance; and, with unstopped Clubs,

CARD PARTIES

PICK DELEGATE TO CONVENTION IN ST. LOUIS

Arthur Kahler, a member of the Junior Council of the Junior Olive Branch Luther league, was elected delegate from the group to the international convention in St. Louis, Mo., in July, at a meeting Monday night in the society rooms of Mt. Olive Lutheran church.

Plans were started to prepare for a parent junior meeting for the next confirmation class. All juniors will be invited to the meeting. A Wiener roast will be held at Sunset Point at the next regular social meeting at 7 o'clock Monday evening June 20.

The society adopted a resolution to have a half hour Bible study prior to each regular meeting.
Topics were given by Thomas Dietrich on How Should a Junior Bible hour be conducted, Roland Ziegler, What Kind of Entertainment Should the Juniors have? Gordon Greiner, What Other Field can the Junior enter upon? Loyd Schmidt, At What Age Should Members Join the Society? Robert Mueller on How Should a Parent Junior Meeting be conducted. Discussion followed the topics.

KAUKAUNA-LITTLE CHUTE-KIMBERLY

NEARBY
TOWNSMUMM IS REENGAGED
TO DIRECT SCHOOL
BAND NEXT SEASON

Board of Education Engages
Several Teachers to Fill Vacancies

Kaukauna—E. F. Mumm, director of the One Hundred and twentieth Field Artillery band of Appleton, was reappointed director of the Kaukauna High school at a meeting of the board of education Monday evening in the high school. His salary was placed at $50 a month and he must conduct two rehearsals a week during the school year. Mr. Mumm has agreed to hold one rehearsal a week during the vacation months. Superintendent James F. Cavanaugh reported that the band was progressing rapidly.

The board instructed the superintendent to engage Miss Margaret Wagner of Northwestern university as head of the forenoon and dramatic departments. She will take the position made vacant by Miss Jeanette Marville. Miss Wagner's salary was placed at $4.50. Miss Polly of New London, at present music supervisor in the Platteville High school, will be engaged as supervisor of the female city schools at a salary of $1500. She will take Miss Flora Heise's place. Miss Heise expected to return to school next year. Miss Gertrude Ditter of Kaukauna was selected as the fifth grade teacher for next school year to succeed Miss Murphy. Miss Ditter is a graduate of Kaukauna High school. She has had one year of teaching experience. Her salary will be $1000.

REDECORATE ROOMS

The board decided to advertise for bids for painting and redecorating several rooms in the Park and Nicolet schools. The rooms will be done in cream instead of the present brown. Superintendent Cavanaugh was instructed to secure lockers for rooms in the grade schools which need them. This is expected to do away with the present untidy appearance of some of the grade school rooms.

The board also decided to advertise bids for the school building. The building will be sought for lavatory equipment for Park school.

Coal bids must be in the hands of the superintendent by 7:30 Monday evening, June 20. A special meeting has been called for that evening.

An inspector of the American Foundation and Turner Co. will be invited to Kaukauna to inspect the school furnaces. It is believed that repairs will be necessary on some of them.

Bids were asked for rebuilding the present high school eastern which is reported to be badly cracked. It is planned to use brick in reconstructing it.

STAGE AND SCREEN

GRIFFITH OFFERS

MORE HILARITY
Raymond Griffith, the comedian who made the slick hat famous, again is exhibiting his hilarious wares at Fischers Appleton theatre Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday where his latest Paramount comedy, Wedding Bills, opened last night.

This popular was whose ability to provoke whole hearted laughter is axiomatic. In WEDDING BILLS offers what is purported to be his best comedy.

The plot of WEDDING BILLS was manufactured especially for laughing purposes. Griffith, past master in the art of clowning makes every move on the screen count, and even his most casual action is in reality clever pun-tomine. His role in this film is that of an harassed best man, who owns more scarf pins than anybody else in town. Weddings are no more unusual with him than his meals, nor half as thrilling. He finally swears off wedding guests, intending to devote himself to the cultivation of bachelorhood. He temporarily abandons his resolution and consents to be best man for his best friend (Hallam Cooley) on the latter's marriage.

But besides the wedding there is also a blonde who takes up some of Griffith's attention. She is upset by news of Cooley's impending marriage, and an expensive necklace is required to soothe her high feelings, and at the same time prevent her from breaking up the romance. Ray gets the necklace on approval, gives it to her, steals it back the necklace disappears entirely and the panic is on.

The picture introduces a new leading woman, Ann Sheridan, a blonde beauty, who distinguishes herself in "society at the Bat," and whose coyness and charm add much to the picture. William Cooley as the bridegroom, acquits himself creditably. Iris Stuart, a newcomer who is one of the "Vampas Baby Stars of 1927," plays the jealous bride, and Vivien Oakland, staid-looking blonde of vaudeville and Ziegfeld Follies fame, plays the designing vamp.

FOOLISH HUSBANDS AND WIVES EXPOSED IN SCREEN PLAY

"Stolen Pleasures"—that may mean anything from playing hooky to drinking bootleg booze in ordinary life, but to an author or playwright it is the stuff from which great dramas are made and has usually to do with cheating sweethearts, husbands or wives.

It is therefore the title and the theme of the new photoplay feature at the New Bijou Wednesday and Thursday and the management promises plenty of action amid the dramatic and thrilling series of marital mix-ups. It is a story of foolish husbands and wives in the clutch of the green-eyed monster, jealousy. It is a big story, a powerful and dramatic preachment that will be especially interesting and pointed in its lesson to husbands and wives.

It has Helene Chadwick and Dorothy Revier in the featured roles and Harlan Tucker and Gayne Whitman in the supporting parts. The story is one that has already achieved no little fame as a magazine tale and was written by Leah Bird, former screen star herself, now turned author.

Miss Bird has shown herself an adept at snaring up the threads of the lives of two married couples and then with even greater expertness untangling them in a series of dramatic episodes and climaxes that will make this pictured story one of the real treats of any cinema season.

OIL STATION BANDIT ELUDES AUTHORITIES

No clues which might lead to the identity of the bandit who entered the office of the Fox River Oil and Gas station, 326 W. College-ave. at 2:55 Monday morning and forced Frank Kimball, 730 E. Atlantic-st, station attendant, to turn over approximately $50 in cash, has been unearthed by police. It was reported Tuesday morning. Uniformed officers and plain clothes men have been attempting to identify the holdup man, who is said to be slender, of medium height, and dark complexioned, but are unable to associate this description with any one in this vicinity. It was said.

A SCENE FROM "STOLEN PLEASURES" TO BE SHOWN WEDNESDAY AND THURSDAY AT THE NEW BIJOU THEATRE.

Lindbergh And Chamberlin Airplanes Are Much Alike

New York—Superficially, the Bellanca-designed plane, Columbia, and the Ryan monoplane in which Capt. Lindbergh blazed the trail, are much alike. The experienced eye of pilot, however, there are many things in the Columbia which sets it apart—the lifting power of the struts for one thing, which is Giuseppe M. Bellanca's secret.

Both planes are stock models of their respective builders, the Columbia having been constructed for use in the air mail service. As far as instruments were concerned, the planes are nearly duplicates, each carrying instruments made by the Pioneer instrument company. The earth indicator compass, to which Lindbergh gave unstinted praise when he landed at Paris, is part of Chamberlin's equipment.

Lindbergh flew without a radio set and so did Chamberlin and Levine. COLUMBIA IS HEAVIER
When the Columbia climbed into the

which is shorter than that of the Ryan monoplane, is light gray in color, silvery in appearance, and the wings are a light lemon shade.

RED, WHITE AND BLUE
The landing wheels are striped in red, white and blue. The markings of the plane consist of the numeral "140" on either side, and one the left side in red, white and blue is painted the head of "Miss Columbia."

Unlike Lindbergh's plane, which was so constructed that he had to use a periscope attachment in order to look ahead, Chamberlin has a clear view on all sides. As pilot he sat on a big gasoline tank, watching the instrument board in front of him.

This board is a feature not found in the Spirit of St. Louis. It is fastened like the control board of a power plant. It is three feet long and a foot wide. In even rows on the board are the air speed indicator; the double dialled earth inductor compass; altimeter; the tachometer, which registers the revolutions of the propeller, and the various oil and gasoline dials and gauges. Suspended in a duralumin fork from the mica roof of the cockpit is a magnetic compass, with attachments for the drift indicators.

Stowed in the fuselage is a rubber collapsible boat, with a pair of bars. A similar boat was carried by Lindbergh. Chamberlin and Levine had 30

REPORT 5 DISEASES IN CITY LAST WEEK

Five diseases were reported to the health department last week, according to Theodore Sanders, deputy health officer. Two cases of mumps, the first this year, were reported. The health regulations do not require placarding or quarantine for mumps according to Mr. Sanders, although they should be reported to the health department. Seven new cases of chicken pox, one of scarlet fever, one of whooping cough and one of measles were reported last week.

Three gallons of food and drinkables, including a gallon can of water, three vacuum bottles—one containing coffee and two filled with chicken soup, 10 toasted rye bread chicken sandwiches and army rations for several days.

Lindbergh had a half dozen sandwiches and a jug of water. Mr. Bellanca said the plane carried 455 gallons of gasoline, weighing 2,757 pounds and 18 gallons of oil, weighing 135 pounds. A Very pistol, smoke bombs, flares and cartridges were also aboard, according to Ugo d'Annunzio, son of the Italian aviator poet, who watched the loading on behalf of the designer.

REGULATION KEEPS UTILITIES HONEST

Milwaukee Man Criticizes Government Ownership in Address at Convention

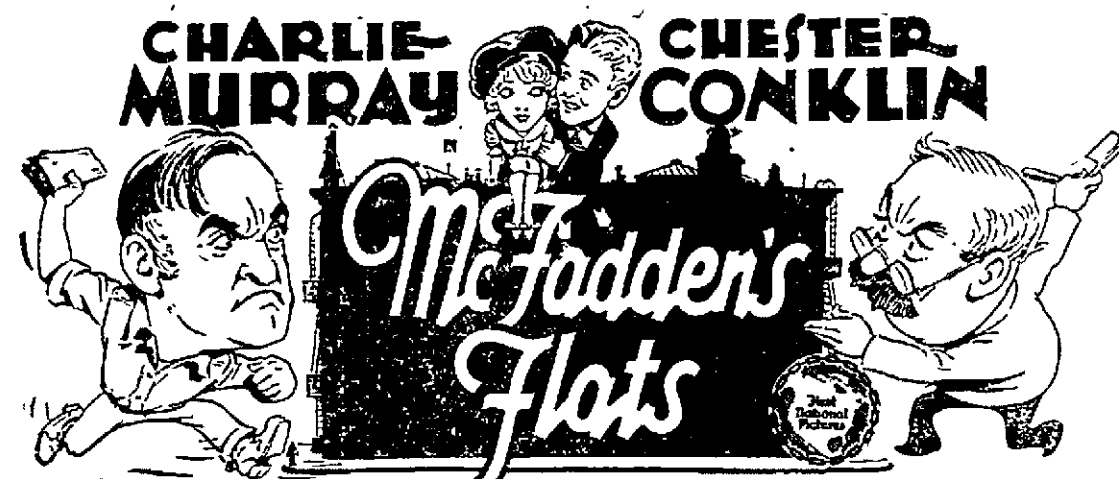

Madison—(P)—A public utility corporation is apt to conduct its business more honestly than is the small store keeper, not because the corporation members are better men but they are much more easily watched, Bert W. Arnold, Milwaukee, told the convention delegates at the annual meeting of the Independent Telephone Association Tuesday.

"The small storekeeper may place a value on his property and charge all that the traffic will bear," Mr. Arnold continued, "but the utility company is restricted. Practically every state has a utility commission which regulates charges."

"In the face of this regulation, we still admit that one of the chief reasons for the tremendous development of our telephone and electric power systems is that heretofore they have

The latest figures I have seen on the subject show about 1,265,000 telephones in the United Kingdom, a number not equal to what we have in the city of New York alone. There are in the United States telephone systems are operated by the government through the Post Office department. TWO UNASSISTED TRIPLE PLAYS IN MAJORS THIS YEAR

Cooney of Cubs, Neun of Detroit, Complete Freaks on 2 Straight Days

BY BILLY EVANS

Shortstop Jimmy Cooney of the Chicago Cubs and First Baseman Johnny Neun of the Detroit Tigers recently completed the sixth and seventh unassisted triple plays, respectively, that have been made in the majors.

Cooney's feat came against Pittsburgh on Decoration Day, Neun's the following day against Cleveland.

Since the shortstop and second baseman hold down the ideal spots for executing such plays there is nothing unusual about the fact that five of the seven made in the majors are credited to such players.

George Burns, while with Boston, is the other first baseman in the majors to retire the side without help of his teammates. Burns, by the way, made his play against his present club, the Indians.

I happened to umpire the games in which Burns and Neun made their plays. I will tell more of them later.

For an infielder to make such a play it is absolutely essential that the hit-and-run play be on and the batsman hit a line drive a few feet to the right or left of a bag.

If it so happens that the shortstop is covering second and the ball is hit to his side of the bag it places him in a position to go through with the play after making the catch. Likewise with the second baseman when the drive comes to his side of the bag.

Such a play seems easier for the shortstop since he is better lined up to run down a man coming from first base.

As a rule, the perfect setting has runners on first and second, no one out, of course, and the hit-and-run play called for. That makes it perfect, once the fielder grabs the line drive.

Bill Wambach, playing second base for Cleveland, had the unusual distinction of making his triple play in a world series game.

Neal Ball of Cleveland made his first unassisted triple play in 1909 and eleven years elapsed before another was made, the one of Bill Wambach in the 1920 world series.

The feat was performed twice in 1923—by Burns and Elmer Padgett of the Braves. Shortstop Glenn Wright turned the trick for the fifth time, and now come Cooney and Neun.

Lloyd Waner with a base hit and Barnhart with a pass set the stage for Cooney when Paul Waner drove a liner through the box, looking like a sure hit, that was grabbed by Cooney.

It so happened that Cooney had one foot on second just about the time the ball struck his mitt. That made two out. He ran up the line to touch Barnhart out as the latter charged from first.

Most triple plays are completed so quickly and unexpectedly that the crowd hardly has a chance to grasp what has actually happened until it is all over.

Getting back to Burns' unusual play I was umpiring the bases in that game and, as I recall it, Rube Lutzke was on first and Riggs Stephenson, now with the Cubs, on second.

Burns, not sure whether the batter would bunt or hit-and-run, was playing in fairly close and the batter drove a terrific liner directly at Burns on the hit-and-run play.

Lutzke, trying to get back to first slipped and was tagged out. Then began a chase to beat Stephenson to second. Both slid into the bag but Burns won the decision.

Neun's play came with Myatt on second and Jamieson on first and Summa's liner on the hit-and-run. Neither player had any chance to evade Neun's efforts for a triple killing.

Few triple plays by a first baseman will ever happen since his position is not nearly so advantageous to pull them.

THE INSIDE OF BASEBALL

BY BILLY EVANS

1. Bases are filled. Umpire calls a balk on the pitcher, who disregards ruling and delivers ball to batsman, who hits a home run? How many runs score?

2. What happens if pitcher gets on the rubber without having the ball in his possession and runner on first is caught off that base through the hidden ball trick?

3. What is the legal distance for a home run on an enclosed ground? Has this rule been recently changed?

4. How does the umpire judge a fly ball as to whether it is fair or foul? Is the position of the fielder considered?

5. Is it necessary that a substitute notify the umpire of his entry into the game for him to be officially in the lineup?

THIS TELLS IT

1. Only one run scores. The calling of the balk suspends play. Baserunners are entitled to advance one base, the runner on third scoring. Batsman who apparently recorded a home run, bails out.

2. It is a balk. Runner on first, apparently retired, is entitled to advance to second.

3. The distance from the plate to the stands or fence must be at least 250 feet. It was formerly 235.

4. It is judged fair or foul according to the relative position of the ball and foul line, the player not being considered.

5. No. The substitute immediately takes the place of the player for whom he was sent in, regardless of whether the umpire is notified.

places, while the Bay squad registered 46 tallies on four firsts, seven seconds, and six thirds places.

Herber was the scoring ace of the day negotiating 16 points, while Hughes of Manitowoc ran a close second with 13.

Valley Conference records received a severe jolt, especially in the pole vault, the century, discus, and the 440 yard dash. The heavy wind proved advantageous to the athletes.

The pole vault was the best event of the day with fine exhibitions by both Hussion and Danielson. Danielson carried this contest with a vault of 10 feet 1 inch. Towsley pulled the big surprise of the day by running Gallenberger to a tie. Frisch breasted the tape in the 100 for a new mark, 16.2, while Fischal did likewise in the 440.

PRO GRAPPLING TO MAT IN ILLINOIS

State Legislators Attempt to Iron Out Shouts of Fakes, Flops

Chicago—(AP)—Professional wrestling was down on the mat Tuesday under a cloud of charges that may end its career in this state.

Shouting assertions of crookedness, fakes and "flops," witnesses before the state legislative investigating committee in a five hour session Monday answered both from the stand and the floor in denials equally as loud while promoters, managers and wrestlers called each other hard names.

No evidence was adduced, however, to show that any fake matches had been staged since the Illinois Athletic commission took charge of wrestling last November.

A threat to introduce a repeal of the law legalizing the mat game was the legislative committee's contribution to the uproarious session.

Another and quicker result was the cancellation of the heavyweight wrestling championship match between Ed "Strangler" Lewis and Joe Malcewicz, scheduled for the Cubs park here next Friday night. Jim Mullen, the promoter, said he would have nothing further to do with wrestling until the charges could be disproved, "if that can be done."

Plenty of testimony was heard describing the "wrestling trust" but Bill Sandow of Kansas City, manager of Lewis and named as one of "trust" took the stand to deny that he was interested in any other wrestler than Lewis.

Both Lewis and Malcewicz arose to challenge Bill Denetral the star witness, to a match to refute the testimony of that mat veteran that Lewis' backers forced a $5,000 forfeit to insure Lewis' victory over Denetral in two Cleveland matches three years ago.

Sox Hurling Gets Crucial Test Against Yank Bats in 1st-place Fight

Big league baseball fans Tuesday had the thrilling prospect of a duel between the Chicago White Sox pitching and the New York Yankee batting, with the leadership of the American league at stake. In their last game before the series with the Yankees the second place White Sox Monday administered a 10 to 1 defeat to the Boston Red Sox for their fourth straight victory in the east and a clean sweep of the series. Since the Yankees were idle Monday the victory carried the Sox to within 24 percentage points of the leaders.

The latest victory of the White Sox was another pitching triumph, although the mound work was backed by better than average work afield and at bat. The game was the tenth victory in twelve starts this season for Ted Lyons, whom Ray Schalk is working in rotation with Ted Blankenship and Alphonse Thomas. Connie Mack, by revamping the Athletic lineup, gained a 4-1 victory over the Cleveland Indians.

John McGraw, with no big league game scheduled also was considering a shakeup in a lineup.

A 7 to 5 victory for the league-leading Pirates over the Phillies added to their lead while the Cardinals also quickened their pace by downing the Robins, 6 to 2. By beating the Boston Braves, 4 to 3 in ten innings, the Chicago Cubs pushed into a tie with the Giants for third place.

Both Lewis and Malcewicz arose to challenge Bill Denetral the star witness, to a match to refute the testimony of that mat veteran that Lewis' backers forced a $5,000 forfeit to insure Lewis' victory over Denetral in two Cleveland matches three years ago.

The adhesive postage stamp was invented in 1840 by James Chalmers, Scotch bookseller. The stamps were not adopted until 1847.

places, while the Bay squad registered 46 tallies on four firsts, seven seconds, and six thirds places.

Herber was the scoring ace of the day negotiating 16 points, while Hughes of Manitowoc ran a close second with 13.

Valley Conference records received a severe jolt, especially in the pole vault, the century, discus, and the 440 yard dash. The heavy wind proved advantageous to the athletes.

The pole vault was the best event of the day with fine exhibitions by both Hussion and Danielson. Danielson carried this contest with a vault of 10 feet 1 inch. Towsley pulled the big surprise of the day by running Gallenberger to a tie. Frisch breasted the tape in the 100 for a new mark, 16.2, while Fischal did likewise in the 440.

Most triple plays are completed so quickly and unexpectedly that the crowd hardly has a chance to grasp what has actually happened until it is all over.

Getting back to Burns' unusual play I was umpiring the bases in that game and, as I recall it, Rube Lutzke was on first and Riggs Stephenson, now with the Cubs, on second.

Burns, not sure whether the batter would bunt or hit-and-run, was playing in fairly close and the batter drove a terrific liner directly at Burns on the hit-and-run play.

Lutzke, trying to get back to first slipped and was tagged out. Then began a chase to beat Stephenson to second. Both slid into the bag but Burns won the decision.

Neun's play came with Myatt on second and Jamieson on first and Summa's liner on the hit-and-run. Neither player had any chance to evade Neun's efforts for a triple killing.

Few triple plays by a first baseman will ever happen since his position is not nearly so advantageous to pull them.

KIMBERLY TAKES HARD WIN FROM CHUTE NINE

Little Chute—Little Chute was defeated by Kimberly at Little Chute baseball grounds, Sunday 5 to 4, in an Inter County League game.

Lindbergh, As Student Was Crack Rifle Shot

Pittsburgh, Pa.—Captain Charles A. Lindbergh, hero of the New York to Paris non-stop flight, was given to spectacular stunts long before he ever climbed into the cockpit of an airplane.

He was the best of crack shots on the University of Wisconsin rifle team a few years ago.

He was a daredevil motorcycle rider, speeding once from Chicago to Louisville, Ky., in 24 hours with only two hours rest.

He was fond of playing a lone hand and liked to roam about the country by himself.

And he never had a date—and never learned to dance.

TELLS OF OLD TIMES

These sidelights on the character of the world's most famous aviator were gained from W. D. O'Connor, Pittsburgh business man, who was a close friend of Lindbergh's at the University of Wisconsin a few years ago.

O'Connor tells about Lindbergh's reluctance, for fear that he be suspected of trying to bask in his old friend's reflected glory. But he is enthusiastic in singing the praises of the young flyer.

"Lindbergh could shoot the fire off a cigarette in the mouth of one of the fellows at a distance of 50 feet, and I have seen him do it many a time," he said.

"Or somebody would hold an ordinary playing card with the edge toward Lindbergh. Charlie would shoot, and almost always the bullet would cut the playing card through the middle. And this was at 50 feet, too."

In the summer of 1921, O'Connor, Lindbergh and M. K. Drewey of Milwaukee left the university in June, met in Chicago and started for the summer R. O. T. C. camp at Camp Knox, Ky. O'Connor and Drewey rode in a small roadster, while Lindbergh mounted his motorcycle—a vehicle that, at that time he regarded nearly as highly as he now regards his airplane.

GIVE SCHOOL PICNIC

Nearly two hundred persons attended the Knowledge Hill school picnic at Knowledge Hill school grounds Sunday. Picnic dinner was served at noon and at 1:30 a short program was given by the pupils. After the program games and contests were held and the following persons were winners in the various contests: First race for men—Martin Bonnin, first. Race for women—Mrs. Wallie Hansen and Mrs. Margaret Blasberg. Baseball throw for distance—Carl Sambs. Turtle race—Gilbert Krukeberg. Duck race—Elsie Bellie. Tug of war, single men versus married men of district—married men.

Armella Sambs is the teacher. Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Jagen and daughter Beatrice, were at De Pere Sunday to visit Mrs. Ernest Isaacs, who is a patient at the De Pere sanitarium. Mrs. Jeanes formerly was Beale Biehl of Green Bay.

The Hammond-Schmidt Post of the American Legion and its auxiliary have been invited to attend the Eighth district conference of the auxiliary at New London Tuesday, and the banquet Tuesday evening.

Mrs. Leonard Schwartz went to Appleton Tuesday to visit her mother, Mrs. Wagner, who has been ill.

WAUPACA DROPS GAME TO ANTIGO, 17 TO 6

Waupaca—Waupaca was outskipped by Antigo at Waupaca's ball park Sunday and took the short end of a 17 to 6 score. The Stumptown combed the offerings of "Lefty" Patten, Waupaca's ace and Froly Raman, who took up the burden in the seventh inning, for twenty safe hits. Waupaca hit McCarty safely 14 times. "Bus" Topp, led the Waupaca offense with four safeties and Jake Mueller was Antigo's best knocker with two homers and a single.

Antigo took the lead in the first with two scores and was never headed although Waupaca hit McCarthy freely throughout and nearly forced him from the mound in the sixth.

The same two teams met again at Antigo next Sunday. Waupaca will present a revamped lineup and nip and tuck battle is expected.

BLIND LECTURER TO TALK AT WEYAUWEGA

Walter Gran of Minneapolis to Discuss Channing Pollock's, "The Fool"

Weyauwega—Walter Gran, the noted blind lecturer and impersonator of Minneapolis, Minn., will appear in Weyauwega Thursday evening, June 8, at the Presbyterian church.

He has been engaged by the officials of the Presbyterian and Methodist churches. His subject is to be Channing Pollock's famous book "The Fool." The united Methodist and Presbyterian choirs will furnish several special musical numbers.

A few weeks ago a tire was stolen from Otto Raich's automobile, while it was parked at the school house. Mr. Raich's son had been painting the car and accidentally brushed some paint on the tire so that it couldn't easily be recognized.

Wednesday night a car was parked on Main-st with this tire on it and the owner of the car had gone to the movie show.

Mr. Raich recognized the tire at once, and notified officer Bellingier, and the two went to the Gerold's opera house and called out the owner of the car, who gave his name as Lester Drews, Fremont, an employee of the Pearl Button Factory. At first he denied knowing anything about the tire, but later agreed to settle for the tire and to appear in Judge court.

Residents of Evanswood, a few miles south of Weyauwega, report having seen a wild deer in that neighborhood. It was a doe, and was about two years old.

The animal was leisurely making its way toward Weyauwega. A deer was also seen on the J. A. Pennebaker farm, a few miles this side of Waupaca, about 20 rods from the buildings.

When first seen the deer was grazing in an alfalfa field and later strolled through the berry patch and into the woods.

A SERVICE EVIDENT ONLY TO THOSE WHO KNOW

So unobstrusive and quiet—so smooth and unapparent is the service of our organization, that only those who know of the important work that is entrusted to us, can see our hand in it. So letter perfect are all the details of the funeral carried out, that not once during the time of bereavement during the time of bereavement are those who mourn given cause for distraction.
